SOMETHING TO SAVOR

Chung outlasts several contenders to win 52nd Porter Cup

Stanford University junior David Chung, 20, a co-leader when the final round began, overcame bogeys on the first two holes and an early four stroke deficit to win the Porter Cup by three shots with a 13-under par total of 267. He shot a 5-under par 30 on the back nine to post his third 65 of the week.

Local favorite Jake Katz and Golfweek NCAA Player of the Year Russell Henley started the day tied with Chung at 8-under par.

“It’s the biggest tournament I’ve won. I’m really honored and privileged to win,” said Chung, a Fayetteville, NC native. “This tournament has the biggest community following.”

Peter Uihlein of Oklahoma State University and Gavin Hall, a 15-year-old prodigy from nearby Pittsford, NY, finished tied for 2nd at 10-under par.
